

AAS Trust Report

The Trust met virtually on September 27. It was the end of an era as Barry Haas gave his final treasurer's report after 25 years of service, then passed the checkbook on to Christine Cash. THANK YOU, Barry. Donation checks should now be mailed to her at 10 Caribe Way, Hot Springs Village, AR 71909. For the fall 2022 session the Trustees granted three awards totaling $2,667.

- Alejandra Gage (M.S., U. North Texas) sired $900 to study paternity in a population of Painted Buntings and classify their breeding strategy.
- Madeleine Kaleta (M.S., U. North Texas) snatched $600 to look at American Kestrel survivorship and migration.
- Alexander Worm (Ph.D., ASU) caught $1,167 to see whether the Loggerhead Kingbird complex across the Caribbean actually consists of multiple species (some of which would be of conservation concern if they are).

My thanks to Dr. Than Boves, Lynn Christie, Megan Foll, Dr. Ragupathy Kannan, and Cherrie-Lee Phillip, and for reviewing the proposals.

Dan Scheiman, Chair
AAS Trust